Working hard for Broxtowe

September 19 2015

Hello again,

This is a short email newsletter. I am on my way today to China as part of an important trade delegation; I am particularly looking forward to visiting Nottingham University's campus at Ningbo.

As you may have heard the Assisted Dying Bill was defeated last week. The debate was very good and I listened to all the arguments. I voted in favour of the Bill but such was the scale of opposition I think it is unlikely similar measures will return to Parliament for some time.

As ever,
Anna

Defending our Green belt

I held a meeting with campaigners dedicated to defending our Green Belt and the Housing and Planning Minister Brandon Lewis., yesterday afternoon.

It was an excellent exchange of views and Brandon gave us a considerable amount of impartial and well founded advice.

I will report back in more detail in my next email newsletter especially as we quizzed Brandon about how the Borough Council can amend the plans in particular to safeguard the Green belt at Toton and allow proper development of HS2.

Brandon is not allowed to make any comment on any planned or existing planning permissions but he did explain the rules and procedures to the large number of Councillors and campaigners who came along. My thanks to everyone involved.
